Expedition Finds Tomb of Ancient Ethiopian Rulers

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 26.—Discovery of the tombs of 26 generations of Ethiopian kings and recovery of material buried for more than 2,000 years which makes it possible for the first time to write the history of Ethiopia, were reported today by the Egyptian expedition of Harvard University and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The expedition was in Egypt 10 years.

The discovery was made at Napata, now called Gebel Barkal. The royal cemeteries were found outside the city. At Napata, on the low knoll near the river Nile, the archaeologists examined pyramids which proved to be the tombs of the 26 kings and 25 queens of Ethiopia, from 650 to 250 B. C., most of whose names had been lost.

Excavations gradually uncovered the burial chamber of Tirhaka, the king of Ethiopia mentioned in the Book of Isaiah, who was one of the five Ethiopian monarchs who ruled Egypt. Then, one by one, were uncovered the tombs of all the other rulers of Ethiopia for more than four centuries.

MAN BELIEVED TO BE SLAYER OF PRIEST IS ARRESTED YESTERDAY

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Nov. 26.—Authorities at Lead, S. D., today were notified by Clayton county officials that they are holding a suspect at Elkader, believed to be the slayer of Rev. Father A. B. Belknap at Lead on October 26. Photographs and descriptions of Belknap sent from Dubuque are said to tally with the man being held.

County Attorney Eichendorf, when shown a picture of Belknap, refused to state positively whether or not it was a likeness of the man being held.

FRANCE PLANS TO RAISE SMALL FORCE OF PROFESSIONAL TROOPS AS NUCLEUS FOR NATIONAL ARMY

PARIS, Nov. 26.—(By The Associated Press.)—The government's recruiting bill to raise a nucleus of professional soldiers as the stabilizer of a smaller conscripted army under the proposed 18 months' service, was filed today with the army commission of the chamber of deputies. This bill is still indefinite, but its advocates consider it capable of producing 100,000 men, who will form the framework of a big army in case of need.

The bill, coupled with Premier Briand's declaration at Washington of a reduction in the army, has resulted in much discussion. It is agreed that the country demands 18 months' service, and this probably will be adopted but there are wide differences of opinion as to what force France should maintain.

Eighteen months' service, it is estimated by army commissioners, would maintain a force of a quarter of a million. This is based on the fact that there are about 300,000 men of military age annually out of whom could be drafted about 170,000.

In addition, contingents could be recruited from among professional soldiers as well as Moroccans, Senegalese, and Orientals.

Members of the commission assert that the plan of the military authorities call for a total force approaching half a million. But there is an evident desire by the chamber to reduce the army to the smallest number compatible with the country's safety.

The new recruiting bill approved by the cabinet Thursday authorizes the enlistment of former soldiers up to the age of 36 years, for two years and upwards. The whole matter of the reorganization of the army is still pending.

The three years' service law has not yet been abrogated, but the government, with parliament's approval, is applying the two year plan. The army, numbering now about half a million, is being reduced by the evacuation of Cilicia.

SON OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN IS NOW 'GEORGETOWN HERMIT' IN OLDEST WASHINGTON QUARTER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—This story is about the hermit of Georgetown.

Georgetown is the oldest, quaintest quarter of Washington. The atmosphere of colonial days still hangs over its antique red brick buildings and shaded brick sidewalks.

Georgetown's hermit is Robert Todd Lincoln. He is the son of Abraham Lincoln.

Few Georgetown people have seen Lincoln. Those who have describe him as a bent old man.

"Mr. Lincoln ain't home," a negro gardener tells you. "He's at his country house in New Hampshire. But he never sees no one, anyway, even when he's here."

If Lincoln would talk to you, he would tell this story:

"I was born at Springfield, Ill., Aug. 1, 1843, while my father was beginning his fight to the top in state politics. That makes me 78 now.

"In 1859 I was graduated from the University of Illinois at Urbana. While father was at the White House, I was beginning my course at Harvard.

"Then the war broke out. I left school to serve as a captain on General Grant's staff.

"I was discharged in 1865—and you know what happened to my father then. In my grief I went back to my old home in Illinois.

"I was admitted to the bar in Chicago in 1867, and was married the following year.

"Politics: I was a presidential elector, served as secretary of war under Garfield and Arthur and later was minister to Great Britain.

"My fortune is based on my connection as special counsel for and later as president of several big business concerns in Chicago and elsewhere."

And now—Lincoln has settled down in the very shadow of his life's greatest tragedy. And his wife shares his seclusion.

Douglas Wins Fight For Reduced Rates From Coast Points

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Class and commodity rates from California points to Douglas, Arizona, were held prejudicial to Douglas today by the interstate commerce commission to the extent that they exceeded rates in effect from the same points to Bisbee, Arizona.

Commodity rates to Douglas from points in Oregon and Washington were likewise held unjust to Douglas to the extent that they exceeded rates from the same points of origin to El Paso, Texas, and Bisbee. The roads participating in the traffic were directed to alter their schedule before February 21, 1922, and to make new rates and file them with the commission for approval, correcting the inequalities.

Anti-French Follow Alleged Insult to Italian Delegate

NAPLES, Nov. 26.—Anti-French demonstrations, which broke out in Turin last night following publication of dispatches from Washington reporting a clash between Premier Briand of France, and Senator Schanzer, head of the Italian delegation, spread here today, where several persons were wounded in a revolver duel between police and the demonstrators.

Demonstrators, consisting largely of students and Fascists, paraded the principal streets crying: "Down with France." They then proceeded to attack the French consulate, but they were faced with a special detachment of 300 troops.

The most serious incident in connection with the demonstrations occurred when the mob found a French flag and burned it amidst hostile exclamations against France.

War Romance, Held Up by War Laws, Is Given Happy Ending

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 26.—Miss Amelia Maresch, aged 19, native of Vienna, Austria, was married today in Juarez, Mexico, to Joseph Wolff, former soldier in the Austrian army. The couple was betrothed in Austria during the recent war. They emigrated to America, by way of Mexico, at different times. They were deported back to Mexico by immigration officials of the United States. Until they met in Juarez, yesterday, the girl did not know that her fiancé had left Austria.

Miss Maresch was arrested in Denver two months ago, when she was working as a house servant in the home of an influential family. After her detention by immigration authorities, Governor Shoup of Colorado, intervened in her behalf. Miss Maresch was deported to Juarez, where she got work as a house maid in a German family. Yesterday, her employer told the girl that he had met "a fellow from Austria." The Austrian proved to be Wolff. The marriage followed.
